ABOUT ME

I'm a passionate software developer from Sweden with a penchant for open-source software. I'm the founder and lead developer for the open-source REST and SOAP mocking tool Castle Mock. Castle Mock is a web application that provides the functionality to mock out RESTful APIs and SOAP web services. Today, Castle Mock has more than a million downloads.

Additionally, I'm the founder and developer for the license discovery website LicenseDiscovery.io. LicenseDiscovery.io allow the user to search for Java dependencies to discover which licenses these dependencies and the transitive dependencies are licensed under.

Today, I work as a Backend Tech Lead for the leading shopping comparison site PriceRunner.
